

U.S. Summer Schools for International High School Students

---

NOTE: The list below is not comprehensive. NORAM does not endorse any particular summer school programs. Lånekassen does not apply to high school students summer school programs. NORAM does not offer any scholarships for summer school programs.

Johns Hopkins Center for Talented Youth

- Offers 3 week summer programs on a variety of topics from mathematics, health, to global issues and civic leadership.
- Programs are offered at a variety of locations across the United States.
- Check out the website below for information about eligibility requirements, visas and costs.
- Some of these programs require SAT or ACT test scores to be eligible.
- <http://cty.jhu.edu/welcome/index.html>

Cornell University Summer College

- Offers three and six week long summer programs for high school students on a variety of topics ranging from art, architecture to engineering, English for non-native speakers, and college success among many others.
- Programs are offered at Cornell University in Ithaca, New York.
- Check out the website below for information about eligibility requirements, visas and costs.
- <https://www.sce.cornell.edu/sc/index.php>

University of Southern California Summer Program

- Offers a variety of programs ranging from science and engineering, to performing arts, writing, business and global studies.
- There are 2-week and 4-week long sessions.
- The courses are offered at the USC main campus. Students are housed in dormitories.
- Check the website for information on eligibility, visa and cost.
- <http://summer.usc.edu/index.shtml>

Boston University Summer Term

- Offers summer programs that are six-weeks or two-weeks long.
- Courses are offered on topics such as French, Arabic, economics, visual arts, psychology and mathematics, computer science and many more.
- International students need to apply for a visa so make sure to check the website for all eligibility requirements.
- <http://www.bu.edu/summer/high-school-programs/>

Duke University Summer College for High School Students

- Courses are offered on a variety of topics such as: game theory, anthropology, physics, literature, and political science.
- Students are housed on the Duke University campus.
- International students are required to take an English language proficiency exam, as well as apply for a visa. Make sure to check the website for all eligibility requirements.
- <http://summersession.duke.edu/high-school-students/summer-college-for-high-school-students>

Columbia University Summer Programs for High School Students

- Offers a wide range of courses and two separate summer sessions each four-weeks long.
- Students from over 70 countries usually attend each summer.
- Check the website for eligibility requirements and information on the application process.
- <http://ce.columbia.edu/high-school/nyc/international-students>

Penn Summer

- Programs range from eleven- week session to five-week sessions.
- Courses are offered on topics such as: gender studies, mathematics, accounting, linguistics, management, history, religious studies and theater arts, etc.
- Check the website for eligibility requirements and information on the application process.
- <http://www.sas.upenn.edu/summer/programs/highschool/international>